Hey there, I'm a first time car owner here. I bought my mini cooper used last month. It's a 2017 4 door S model, I bought it with 14k on it. Today I noticed some fluid leaking from under the car after I had parked it. Took mini to dealer as mini connected said brake fluid was over due even thou cars was only service last month. The car is 2014 has only done 10K, dealer today recommended replacement of the rear brake pads, he said pads were 80% gone 4mm left and should be replaced at 3mm, so I said yes.
